The best way to understand self-exposure techniques is to think in terms of a phobia, but it can also be used with other types of anxiety as well which we'll explain in a moment.